Spin masters

The recently held Beyblade Metal Masters Competition saw enthusiastic participants playing to claim the masters title.

The Beyblade Metal Masters Competition held recently at Crossroads in Alwarpet was super charged. The competition was organised by Funkskool India Limited. One hundred and sixty participants, aged six years and above got together to test their beyblade skills. The kids were divided into groups of 16 each, and they had to compete against one another in their group. At the end of 10 rounds, the 16 finalists had to play against each other. Ultimately three were chosen the winners. Kumaresh (13 years), Sudharshan, V A and Calvin Richard (13 years) won the first, second and third prizes respectively.

Beyblade has proved to be a highly popular sport among kids and it generates a lot of excitement every time the game is played. The concept of the game originated from tops, that have been around for ages. The beyblade has evolved to become a game that involves the temperament and the IQ of the player, as he/she needs to focus and calculate the amount of force to make the beyblade move as desired. It could be said that it is an energetic display of pure physics.
